

Contractor Contributions

1. henThomas May, CEO of Northeast Utilities, gave $10,000 to the federal account. NU is a state contractor. NU execs gave a total of $45,000.
2. Adam Winstanley and Carter J. Winstanley principals of Winstanley Enterprises, developer of Downtown Crossing in New Haven. They each gave $10,000 last year, as did a third partner. Its anchor tenant, Alexion Pharmaceuticals, is relocating with $51 million in incentives from the state.

Winstanley Enterprises total to DSCC - $50,000

3. Husam Ahmad of Forest Hills, N.Y., gave $10,000 to the Connecticut Democratic Party on March 25, less than two weeks after the state awarded his engineering firm, HAKS, an $8.63 million contract to inspect overhead power lines on the New Haven line of Metro North.

Last year, he and six others associated with HAKS gave $45,000

4. Ed Snider wrote a $10,000 check Aug. 27, six months after Comcast-Spectacor's subsidiary, Global Spectrum, was chosen to manage the XL Center in Hartford and Rentschler Field in East Hartford

He subsequently returned his check.

5. Mark Summers of Sarasota, Fla., the project manager of Bridgeport Landing, a waterfront real-estate development in Bridgeport, gave $10,000 on Sept. 26, a day before the State Bond Commission approved $31 million in financing for Summers' anchor tenant, Bass Pro Shops
6. As the state Department of Transportation's opposition to the proposed transfer of the Bridgeport-Port Jefferson Ferry terminal finally evaporated last year, the company's chief executive Brian Mcalister wrote $20,000 in checks to Connecticut Democrats.
7. Philip Cambo of Sturbridge, Ma., president of Northern Tree Service, a state contractor gave $10,000.
8. Jane Coppa of Delray Beach, Fla., an executive with The Simon Konover, Simon Konover of Delray Beach, Fla., is the company's founder and Steven Konover of West Hartford is on Konover's board of directors. All gave $10,000 totaling $50,000.
9. Francisco Borges, Chairman of Landmark Partners, a state contractor gave $20,000.
10. Alan Lazowski, Chairman of Laz Parking, gave $20,000.
11. John Stafstrom, a partner in the Bridgeport law firm of Pullman & Comley, a state contractor, gave $10,000.
12. Bob and Kelly Landino each gave $10,000. Landino is the President of Centerplan Development, a state contractor.