

The CT residents have felt increased taxed burdens for years. Instead of being fiscally prudent, the answer is to constantly increase taxes which is unacceptable and burdensome for the seniors in the state, as well as the young population who are trying to make it work for themselves, as they find employment and purchase homes and start families. I have witnesses friends who have reached retirement years, sell what they have and move to more fiscally responsible states where life is more affordable. This is happening as they are leaving their families being, including children and grandchildren. I personally know of 4 families who have done this!

It is only a matter of time, when these children and grandchildren feel the burden of these taxes and are find themselves taxed out of this state as well.

Please reconsider these taxes and let's stop taxing and punishing those who have contributed to the state for all these years. Both my husband and I have had to cut back our lifestyle and live with less, it is time the state does the same!
