

It's Time to Speak Out

May 7, 2015

As a resident & business owner, I find more and more difficult to grow my business. We see more of our business clients either moving out of Connecticut or moving jobs out of CT and out of the US. I read recently that Ct is high up on the list of residents leaving the state. With dismal job grow since the 2008' recession, we've lag behind in job creation. Dan Malloy broke his promise in his first term & increased taxes; now in his second term; again.

This proposed tax increase will only further stifle any chance of Connecticut's decline for long term sustainable recovery, in fact will likely cause more residents and employers to leave. It's not fair to ask the hard working business owners and working people of CT to bear this tax increase.

As far as a new public transportation system: hope it stops at all the Unemployment offices!
